TWO CENTS

CHARLEROI HIGH WINS ITS FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON

Takes Over The Mars Team
In A One-Sided Score
On Saturday

ROCHESTER NEXT SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon the C. H. S. football team played their first home game, and to glorify the occasion they defeated the Mars High School team 33-0.

The local team got busy as soon as the whistle was sounded and in three downs they scored a touchdown. Weaver ran around the visitors' end for a considerable gain and Dennis, after another end run, placed the ball behind the enemy goal post. Brown added a point by kicking the ball over. Charleroi then kicked to Mars, who lost the ball on downs, and by the end of the quarter the local team had advanced the ball far into their opponents' territory.

Early in the second quarter another touchdown was made by Webster, and Brown, failing to kick the ball over, the score stood 13-0. Mars then kicked to Charleroi, who took the ball down the field by a series of end runs and line plunges. A well-thrown forward pass was then caught by Dennis, who ran fifteen yards before being tackled. This play brought the ball within a few yards of the visitors' goal line, and Brown finished the job by plunging through the opposite line. He also kicked the ball over, thus making the score 20-0.

The third quarter began with Charleroi kicking to Mars who were unable to keep the ball in their possession. Again the local team advanced down the field, and ended their victorious march by sending Dennis through for another touchdown. One more touchdown was garnered in this quarter when Dennis intercepted a forward pass, which the Mars team attempted to execute, and ran 25 yards to their goal line. Brown kicked the ball over, making the score 33-0.

In the last quarter the visitors advanced the ball to within one yard of the locals' goal line but they fumbled the ball on the final play, and their chances for scoring on the Charleroi team vanished as if by magic. The locals then started marching down the field with the ball, and though the visitors could not stop them the final whistle did.

The entire Charleroi team played a fine game, but their admirers did not see all they could do, because they were not forced to extend themselves to win. Buxton, the visitors' left guard gave a nice exhibition of speed early in the game, when he prevented Dennis from making a touchdown by overtaking him before he reached their goal line. The line-up:

O'Brien, Capt. R T MacSwiney
Gray R G Morrow

SEIZURE OF LIQUOR MAY MAKE SUPPLY SCARCE

The discovery of a big whiskey cache in Pittsburgh, and the holding of $300,000 worth of liquor by government officials, may have an effect on the supply which seems to be plentiful in this section of the valley. The government proposes to arrest a number of men implicated in the ownership of this liquor and some startling developments may result. The seizure of the liquor may make it more difficult to get a "snifter" in the future than in the past.

POTATO TESTS TO BE MADE THIS WEEK

An interesting series of tests will be made in potato growing in Western Pennsylvania counties within the next few days or so, when the varieties planted as immune in the spring will be dug up and examined. These varieties were placed in various counties for experiment because of the spread of the potato wart disease to half a dozen counties west of the Allegheny mountains. Some of them were brought from England and Ireland by Dr. J. G. Sanders, director of the bureau of plant industry.

The digging of the experimental potatoes planted in Luzerne, Carbon and adjoining counties will be started next week. The potatoes have been widely distributed in western counties and upon the showing will depend some of the state's restrictive measures which are now in effect in six counties. Co-operation with Western potato growers has been asked by the state experts, so that the scourge can be headed off before it does much damage.

BIG GASSER BROUGHT IN AT BEALLSVILLE

One of the best gassers that has been brought in recently in the Beallsville district by the Manufacturers Light and Heat company and located in that borough. The well, which produces from three sands, Indian, Elizabeth and Sweet Ricard, is producing 700,000 to 800,000 feet daily and gives promise of being one of the most profitable wells in that neighborhood. The same company is now preparing to sink another well on the W. E. Flick farm, a good gasser having been brought in on this farm a year ago.

Promotion Exercises At The Methodist Episcopal Church

The Rally Day and promotion service at the Methodist Episcopal church on Sunday were successful in every particular. The classes, during the period of study, were very large. The men's room was filled to the point of overflowing, and many others were equally well attended.

The special promotion program began at 11 o'clock. The large auditorium was filled to its capacity. The Cradle Roll, the Beginners, the Primary and the Juniors, who were promoted, participated in the service. Gates were placed upon the pulpit platform, through which each class, at the time of its promotion, passed. Promotion diplomas were awarded all that passed through the gates. The songs, rendered by the children, the recitations of Scriptures committed, and the Bible outline examination of the Juniors, reflected great credit upon teachers, and committee responsible for training. The decorations were unique and in excellent taste.

The Associate Superintendents and the pastor spoke briefly and encouragingly. A pleasing feature of the program, and one that touched every heart, was the presentation of two infants by their mothers. Mrs. B. D. Hetrick and Mrs. E. S. Holler, to the Cradle Roll Superintendent for enrollment in that department. The infants were placed in cradles on the platform and rocked by tiny tots from the Beginners' department.

BRINGS SUIT FOR HEAVY DAMAGES

The Monessen Coal and Coke company, operating the Iron City mine in Rostraver township, just below Monessen, has brought suit against Nancy Bell Carter, claiming $15,000 damages, charging that carelessness and improper mining was done by the late Levi P. Carter to lands and coal property which the coal company purchased. The plaintiff owns coal adjoining the property on which Mr. Carter operated a coal mine. The plaintiff claims the defendant got into its coal and mined a lot of it. Carter died February 20, 1920, and Nancy Bell Carter is executor of the estate.

GUN TOTING BY ALIENS MUST STOP

Unnaturalized aliens who persist in toting guns will shortly come in for explanations in the event the county authorities carry out the instructions of state officials.

Word from Harrisburg is to the effect that the alien is persisting in his illegal ownership of both guns and dogs and that his arrest will follow unless he can prove that he has taken out citizenship papers.

This offense is becoming all too common, according to word received from Harrisburg, and must be handled with an iron hand. Sportsmen and authorities alike are asked to check up and aid the state in its campaign against the use of both guns and dogs by unnaturalized aliens.

HEALTH BOARDS CAN ORDER PROSECUTIONS

Boards of Health in first-class boroughs and townships may order prosecutions for violations of regulations of the State Health Department and may recover costs from owners of premises where work is necessary for abatement of nuisances, according to the Attorney General's office. An opinion written by Deputy Attorney General Frank M. Hunter states the act of April 27, 1905, gives the local boards of health the power to proceed to carry out the regulations of the state health authorities, and that additional power is given under acts of June, 1913, and April, 1915.

Well Known in Eastern End

Born and Raised

WAS PROMINENT IN POLITICS

George Plummer Baker, one of the best known attorneys in Washington county, and a former member of the state legislature from this county, died suddenly at the City Hospital, Washington, Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. The news of Mr. Baker's death came as quite a shock to his friends, it not being generally known that he had been ill. He suffered from mastoid trouble and became unconscious Friday afternoon. He was taken to the hospital Saturday and operated on late in the afternoon. While he recovered from the anesthetic he did not recover consciousness, meningitis which developed causing his death.

Mr. Baker was born in West Pike Run township, the son of Lewis F. and Mary Dorsey Baker. The family of which Mr. Baker was a member was established in Washington county more than a century ago. Mr. Baker's great-grandfather, John Wood Baker, and his brother George coming from Lancaster county in 1781. They settled in lands of West Pike Run township and followed farming.

At the time of his death Mr. Baker was serving as solicitor for Washington borough and was also a member of the school board, having served in that capacity for several terms.

He received his early education in the schools of West Pike Run township and later attended the California State Normal school, from which institution he graduated in 1881. He taught school in the counties of Fayette, Beaver and Washington for a number of years, and later went to Washington, where he read law with the late M. L. A. McCracken. He was admitted to the Washington county bar in 1892, and as a lawyer enjoyed a splendid practice.

He served as deputy recorder of the county under L. M. Axtell and E. N. Dunlap, and afterwards served two terms in the state legislature, being first elected in 1914 and again in 1916. In 1919 he was a candidate for orphan's court judge, being defeated by Judge Haldain B. Hughes. In politics Mr. Baker was always a Republican, and all through his life took an active interest in public affairs. Mr. Baker was well known in this section of the valley, and had many warm supporters here in his various political campaigns.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Effie Flack Baker, and two daughters, as well as four brothers. Funeral services will be held at his late residence in Washington, Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, interment in Washington cemetery.

PASTEUR TREATMENT FOR MONESSEN PEOPLE

Ten Monessen people are now taking the Pasteur treatment as a result of the mad dog scare that was given that town several weeks ago, and which caused Burgess Stewart to issue a proclamation enforcing the 100-day dog quarantine. Eight of the patients were bitten by dogs which were killed and the heads sent to Dr. Deterre, head of the Pasteur Institute in Pittsburgh, who pronounced the animals suffering from rabies.

A week ago a more serious menace was discovered when a cat that had been acting strangely, bit Mrs. Louis Phillips and a young lad by the name of Joseph Demola. The animal was killed and the head sent to Pittsburgh. A few days later word was received that it had been suffering from rabies and that persons bitten would consequently be compelled to take the Pasteur treatment. A number of patients have been taking the treatment for some time and so far no serious results have occurred, and none are expected to develop rabies.

The discovery of the cat with rabies has caused greater alarm among physicians than ever and a close watch is being kept on the patients, as well as animals that may have come in contact with the diseased cat. Strict enforcement of the quarantine is being carried out and in the future all stray cats will follow the path of dogs running at large and will be shot by the police.

The Isabella Thoburn Sunday School class will meet at the home of Miss Gertrude McKenna, 503 Crest Avenue, on Tuesday evening, October 5.

THE REVOLT OF YOUTH.

An agitated British parent has written to a London paper to lament that his daughter addresses him as "Old Bean" and that this is but one of the many signs that youth is in revolt against age. Apparently the good old times when British youngsters consented to be seen and not heard in the presence of their elders are gone forever. Now they not only speak up but question the wisdom of their elders and even regard them as proper objects of ridicule in the form of belittling nicknames. The subject has been taken up by that whimsically humorous yet serious scribe, Gilbert K. Chesterton, who concedes that the daughter who calls her father "Old Bean" imagines that every time she thus horrifies her conservative parent she advances further along the road toward "liberty," but reminds the youth of the day that in real freedom there is discrimination. A discriminating as well as a perfectly free youth will not treat the old exactly as he treats the young because properly there is a "difference of tone" toward the things "which are a part of the past, still sensitive, and which are already dignified with the shadow of death."

In other words, youth with its long lease of life should be considerate of age with its one foot already in the grave. It may well be doubted whether the father called "Old Bean" will be satisfied with such a mere appeal to youth's pity. He may think that after he has tenderly reared, housed, fed, clothed, and educated a daughter she ought to feel some slight gratitude and in consequence be disposed toward a reasonably respectful manner, and he would be right. Impatient or pitying youth are apt to forget that, though their elders are old in body, they are still young in soul and destined for an eternal existence wherein the charm of a youthful exterior is heightened by the wisdom of long experience.

CUTTING PRICES WITHOUT PANIC

The steady decline in prices of staple articles ranging from automobiles to cotton goods and from corn to household furniture shows wisdom on the part of the business men of the country which will avert any fear of the slump degenerating into a panic. Despite the cut in prices there has been no cut in wages. This fact alone proves the essential soundness of our economic and industrial condition and the wisdom of a careful but concerted effort to return to normal production and normal prices.

There is little doubt that prices of many commodities have been kept up by artificial inflation. There is little doubt that these high prices have tended to check the extravagant buying which followed the armistice. This check on buying has convinced producers and distributors that prices must come down. They are coming down. As a result, we believe, buying will be stimulated. When this takes effect after the reduction becomes general it will slow up the price slashing. It will not stop it altogether.

The profiteers as well as the consumers have learned their lesson for the time at least. Both will be slow to commit the same error again. Labor is also beginning to see the light. Production per unit of man power is increasing. That reduces the labor cost of production without the necessity of reducing wages.

The general tendency is a good one and may be looked upon without anxiety. If producers will make their price reductions and be content with a reasonable profit; if consumers will buy what they need without extravagance, tending to stabilize the market; if labor will give a full day's work for a full day's pay, the readjustment will come without a shock to the individual, the group, or the nation.

We believe that is what is being done, and the country may give thanks for it.

THE PHOENIX.

Rising from the ashes of the League of Nations, the world court bids fair to become the agency which will settle the future of the world. The idea is but an amplification of the Hague convention. The league covenant sought to give itself an air of respectability by adopting the plan for a judicial arbitration court formulated in 1907, but the original suggestion came from other minds than that of President Wilson and the other league advocates, and was endorsed by more than a score of nations long before the notorious league covenant was thought of.

Candidate Cox says Abraham Lincoln did not hesitate to stump the country in behalf of his candidacy for the Presidency. Governor Cox shows an amazing ignorance of Lincoln history for one who professes to be a belated admirer of the first Republican President. After his nomination to the Presidency Mr. Lincoln not only remained at his Springfield home during the campaign, but scarcely uttered a word or wrote a letter during the whole canvass. Can you imagine Abraham Lincoln running around the country yelling that his opponents were trying to "buy" the Presidency with a "slush" fund.

In an appeal for "general" contributions to the Cox campaign fund, the New York Times, Democratic organ, declares that nobody believes that the funds being raised by either political party is to be corruptly used. In other words, nobody believes that Governor Cox has been publicly saying, "Why should anybody contribute to the campaign fund of somebody nobody believes."

Bernard Baruch has gone to southern among the Kansas farmers in order to find out who gets the $20 it costs to handle a barrel of flour from the time the wheat leaves the bins until it reaches the consumer in the form of a loaf of bread. The farmers are likely to tell him that he is barking up the wrong tree and ought to get on the trail of the middlemen along the toll route and in the towns.

The alleged discovery by present-day burglars that robbery by open violence is both safer and more profitable than theft as secretly committed by the ornaments of their profession in the past may be a hasty generalization based on a few bold hold-ups with gun play, but such a change would be in harmony with the trends of an age of increasing violence.

If the Democratic national committee is really hard up, why not ask the housewives of America to duplicate their contribution to the sugar speculators during the last campaign season? That would provide a fund many times as large as the one Governor Cox's dream book says the Republicans are raising.

FREE METHODISTS END CONFERENCE

The annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Conference of the Free Methodist church, which was in session at Butler last week, adjourned Sunday night. Just before the close of the conference the list of appointments were made for the coming year. In the Uniontown district, of which Charlottesville is a part, Rev. R. E. Campbell was named as Elder, while Rev. R. A. Zahnizer was assigned to the Charlottesville and Monongahela churches.

BIG APPROPRIATION FOR RIVER EQUIPMENT

The Wheeling Steel Corporation, consisting of the LaBelle Iron Works, the Whitaker-Glessner Company, and the Wheeling Steel and Iron Company, has appropriated $3,000,000 for the construction of river equipment. The construction of two steamboats is now under way, and plans are being made for the building of unloading docks.

MUST COLLECT FINES AS WELL AS COSTS.

In an opinion written by Deputy Attorney General George R. Hall, Benjamin G. Eynon, registry in motor vehicles of the state highway department, it is held that in a summary conviction a justice of the peace cannot remit the fine and collect the costs.

TO DRIVERS LOSE LICENSE PRIVILEGES

The State Highway Department announced last week it had revoked the automobile license of several drivers, among them being that of J. Keenan of Monongahela. Thus far in the year 65 licenses have been revoked by the department.

TOO "SANCTIFIED" FOR HER

Aunt Lizzie's Reasons for Leaving Her Spouse, and Why She Was Not Grieving.

Aunt Lizzie, comfortably fat, a widow, and wearing middle age, met her fate in the person of a prosperous negro who owned a plantation and a good house. Her white friends thought she had done unusually well, and were glad. A few short months after the wedding ceremony, however, she came to see a family she had had once cooked for, and when a young member of the group asked about her wealthy spouse, she said: "Law, chile, I done left that nigger. Him and me didn't get along a-tal." Surprised, the girl asked: "What on earth was the matter Aunt Lizzie? I thought you married a fine man with plenty of money." "That plenty of money, all right," she replied. "Wardn't but one thing wrong with him—he was sanctified. You know, one of dese here 'oliness men. Us hadn't been married no time before he told me I wasn't as good as him. Said I was obnoxious. Den he wouldn't let me wear my wedding clothes, and said he'd quit me if I ever went near one of dese picture shows. And you know, honey, I loves my coffee, my clothes and when I comes to town my picture shows. So I up and quits him." "You don't look sad about it," the girl said. "Am't sad, honey; am't sad. I got me a lawyer and tuk half dat nigger's plantation 'way from him. Guess he wish when I done dat he hadn't been so sanctified."

RASMUSSEN TO STUDY ESKIMO

Danish Explorer's Ambition Is Said to Be to Make Thorough Study of the Northern Race.

The remarkable studies carried out by the Danish explorer, Knud Rasmussen, among the Greenland Eskimos are described by W. E. Ekblaw in the geographical review. Rasmussen, who is part Eskimo himself, was born and trained in languages and ethnology at the University of Copenhagen.

It is his ambition to make a thorough study of the whole Eskimo race, from eastern Greenland to Siberia, and he has already visited every Eskimo settlement in Greenland. It is said that he knows every Greenland Eskimo personally. Mr. Ekblaw believes it safe to say that no one else has ever come into such direct contact with a whole people as he has.

Late in 1919 he returned from a visit to Ammassalik, on the east coast. He was surprised to find that the eastern Greenland Eskimos preserve many of the customs of the central Eskimos who still inhabit the ancestral home of the race about Hudson Bay. He found that they are more closely related to the central Eskimos than are any of the other tribes of the entire Greenland coast, and that only recently have they been affected by contrast with the Greenland west coast culture.

Oldest Living Artist

Abington Mass., claims the oldest living artist in New England. She is Mrs. Mary DeHill Porter, who is now 122 years old. While holding a position high in standing among painters, the woman, naturally did not take up painting until she was more than 50 years old.

At that time, happening to be in Maine on a visit, she became acquainted with a woman who gave lessons. She at once took up the art and immediately made great progress. In fact, in a comparatively short time she was giving lessons herself. In her home there and numerous excellent pictures, and during the last five years she has painted five pictures considered a good number under the existing conditions, which meant shortage of materials.

Mrs. Porter was born in 1800, in N. S., coming to Abington at the age of 26 years. She is the mother of six children, and at present lives with her son, Lyander, and two grandchildren.

At the local services

At the local services, there were one or two who were trying to preach holiness, and the removal of class distinction both in society and on the railway and lots of other things.

But they found a strong opposition. A chauffeur who drove the local laundry lady on her Monday round of visits.

"Such thing as stuck-upness," said the chauffeur, "is the worst thing in the world. Well, but don't she order you about?" demanded the disciples of freedom.

"Of course she does," he replied. "But she bawls at me just the same when she does her husband. She make no difference between me and her own son-in-law."—Answers, London.

Egg-Matching Periods

Such as the robin and other birds, which have artificial incubation, do not incubate their eggs as long as those like the shorebirds and ducks which have precocial young. The American Forestry Magazine, in its issue of last week, says that the eggs of most common small birds require incubation for from ten days to two weeks. Those of the fowl-like birds such as the ruffed grouse about three weeks, those of the ducks about four weeks, and the eggs of the eagle, a large outch-like bird of America, must be incubated for about six weeks.

DISEASE CLOSES GREENE CO. SCHOOL

Schools of Graysville borough, Greene county, have been closed for an indefinite period as the result of the development of 20 cases of diphtheria in that district.

A clock frequently stops because dust has clogged its bearings. When this is the case it may be cleaned by the following simple method which has been recommended: Soak a piece of cotton wool in kerosene and place this in a small saucer, a canister lid, or anything similar. Then put this in the case of the clock under the works. Close up, and at the end of 24 hours examine the cotton wool. It will be found to be covered with black specks; these are the dust particles brought down by the fumes of the kerosene. Wind the clock up and it will probably run again. If the works of the clock are in an inclosed case a few drops of kerosene should be poured through the small hole which is present in the metal covering. Turn the clock about a whole so that the kerosene is distributed and after an interval it is extremely likely that the works will commence their normal operations again.

Climbing Toward Heaven.

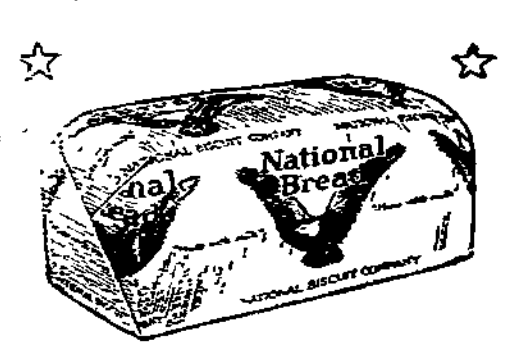

Some people can go up higher in the air than others, but, according to the experts of the medical research laboratory of the United States war department, no one who proceeds beyond a certain elevation—the critical line for him—escapes the malady known as mountain sickness. Some cannot go to an elevation of more than 10,000 feet without suffering, while a very few can venture as high as 15,000 feet. The symptoms depend not merely on the height but on the condition under which the ascent is made, especially physical exertion put forth and the rapidity of the climb. The only way that greater heights may be attained is by resorting to the scheme of carrying a supply of oxygen.

OVERLOADED AUTOS DESTROYING ROADS

Overloaded trucks are destroying county and township roads in Western Pennsylvania, according to representatives of the State Highway Department, who last week made an inspection of the highways of the western part of the state. The party was headed by M. H. James, chief of the extension bureau of the State Highway Department.

It was found that the brick and old style macadam thoroughfares were giving way to overloaded trucks. The most damage from that practice, it was stated by the officials, was found in the iron, steel and coal centers. The damage was not confined to the brick, macadam, shale, and gravel roads, but the concrete roads were also found in bad condition.

The new highways of the state, it was found, are standing up under the maximum of traffic. They are being constructed of reinforced concrete and when the system is completed some of the finest thoroughfares in the country will be the result.

ALLEGHENY CO. PROPOSES A BIG BOND ISSUE

The voters of Allegheny county will be asked to approve a proposed bond issue of $35,000,000 at the coming general election on November 2nd. Of this amount $10,000,000 will be utilized in giving the county a modern system of highways, while the remaining $25,000,000 will be devoted to the rebuilding and freeing of bridges within the county. Allegheny county roads are already away ahead of any other section in this part of the state, and the spending of ten millions of dollars additional will give it a system unequalled in the country.

DONORA FIRE BUG TAKEN TO WESTMORELAND

Frank Karma, thought to be a promiscuous and to have caused the series of fires which occurred in Donora last Monday night, was on Friday last turned over to Westmoreland county authorities on instructions from a state deputy fire warden. He was committed to the Monessen lock-up pending a hearing. It is believed that Karma is responsible for all the fires that occurred in the steel town and that in all probability he will be committed to an insane asylum. He still denies setting fire to any of the buildings.

TO DECREASE NUMBER OF OPERATING FORCE

In a determined effort to curtail expenses of the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, officials announced last Thursday that, beginning with this week, from three to five per cent of the present clerical force would be dropped.

This action is general over the entire system of the company, judging from the reports from other districts. A. H. Rebstock, assistant to the Superintendent of the Monongahela division, showed no hesitancy in discussing the proposed decrease in the force, which is to become effective this week.

The present operating force at Uniontown numbers 216 persons, and according to the higher officials it is absolutely necessary in order to curtail as far as possible operating expenses. It is said that no lay-off of laborers is being considered by the company.

FUR JOE DEPARTMENT IS ALWAYS BUSY—THERE'S A REASON

MAY GIVE PEADORA A THROUGH SERVICE

The experiment tried in Thursday by the receivers of the Pittsburgh Railways company to give Donora through traffic on the suburban line may be given a trial for a time, although it is believed by some that it will not prove a success. The idea is to give Donora about four through cars per day, making it a two-car train between Black Diamond and Pittsburgh.

When the south-bound car reaches Black Diamond the rear car would be detached and it would proceed under its own power to Donora, to wait until the time of its departure, when it would return to Black Diamond to be picked up by a Pittsburgh bound car. If the plan is put into operation it will tend to relieve congestion at certain hours of the day and at the same time give the Donora patrons an improved street car service.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY LEADS IN MOVIE SHOWS

The blanks are now being issued by the department to operators who wish 1920 licenses, which will be issued December 15.

MORE RETAINING WALL ON CLAIRTON RIVER FRONT

The Carnegie Steel company, which is constructing a retaining wall in front of its by-product plant at Clairton, still has about 400 feet to build. It is said that several hundred feet more will be constructed at other points along the river protecting that company's property.

LANGUAGE SPOKEN BY ALL

That of Heart Far Outranks the Written Word in the Making of Friends.

There is one language of the tongue and another of the heart, and the second is the more important. The doughboy in France often found himself unable to exchange words—beyond the briefest greeting or the expression of the elemental needs of life—with those among whom he came, from a far, strange land. But actions were louder and more intelligible than speech. The people knew from his kindly face and his outstretched hand that they had nothing to fear from this American soldier. He came not to steal or to destroy; he came to help and to play the part of a friend.

The traveler in a land held by savages is under a constant surveillance. The aboriginal folk are wondering whether he is the advance agent of a great many more, who are coming to take what through the ages has belonged to them and to their forebears. He is on trial, and the burden of proof rests with him. If he goes with the modest, courteous, considerate demeanor of a Farabee traveling through Amazonia, he has nothing to fear—for he has done nothing to create fear. When Stanley went to Africa or Roosevelt traversed South America or Kinglake made his journey in the East, each of these voyagers encountered unfamiliar tongues; but there are always ways in which one human being makes himself understood by another, no matter how distant the points from which they came.

ALWAYS THE SAME OLD HUN

Nation Continues to Dream of Victorious War, in the Face of Its glorious Defeat.

The Hun never changes. We read in well-informed magazines everywhere that Germany, unlike any other nation participating in the great war, refuses to forget the war. While in America, in Britain, in France and Italy, the chief desire is to turn full attention to the things of peace and to blot out war memories, in Hunland the converse is true. declares the American Legion Weekly.

The astounding sale of books dealing with military phases of the war and the military lessons taught by the war continues throughout Germany. Germans, old and young, are reading what Von Hindenburg and Von Kluck and Von Sanders think of even the minutest details of strategy and tactics. Clubs have been formed for the study of military questions, and newspapers are full of articles explaining just why Germany failed, and just how she could have done better. Some stupid persons wonder if this does not mean "Just how she can do better next time!"

"One would expect the reverse—look for a national revision of feeling on the part of beaten Germany leading them to abjure war talk and turn their thoughts elsewhere. But Heine can neither learn nor forget. Prudence, not pessimism, is the origin of an intense conviction that our sons will some day have to combat the same old Teuton menace.

Teach Value of Foods.

The first laboratory for working out household food problems was installed in Teachers' college, New York city, a little more than ten years ago, says an exchange. The development of science has been extraordinary, the current ideas of the actual value of food in common use have been revolutionized by the work in these laboratories. When the war came, the government accepted without question the results of these investigations and the rationing of American soldiers in France were based upon them.

One of the most interesting features of the laboratory is a complete flat, including kitchen, dining room, bedroom and bath. Students are selected who need such kinds of food and experimented upon for weeks at a time. In this way, many problems of the utmost importance were solved.

"Neither Fish, Fowl Nor—"

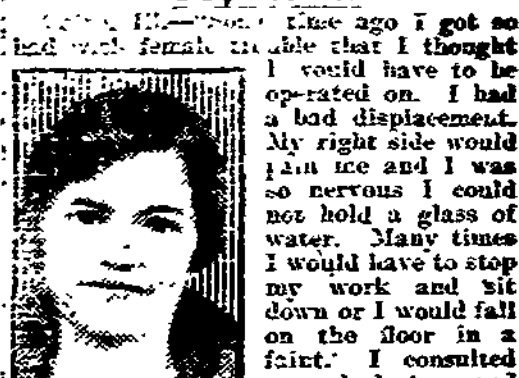

Berwick-on-Tweed is in a predicament. It is neither in England nor in Scotland, and because of this it has to have laws specially made for it. They are, however, the same laws as are passed for England. This once led to quite an amusing situation. When England went to war with Russia in 1854, Berwick-on-Tweed was duly included in the official declaration of war. But when the proclamation of peace was drawn up, Berwick's name was omitted, with the result that the inhabitants have been hostile to Russia for over sixty-five years! It doesn't seem to worry them much, however. They live in homes that some day some special law will be passed, putting the matter right.

Quite Clear.

Tommy lost his temper while playing with neighbor Johnnie and told him plainly that he considered him a person totally devoid of intelligence and predestined to a hereafter quite lacking in attractiveness, or words to that effect. This was too bad, as Tommy's mother happened to be in hearing, and subsequent proceedings were painful to relate. Next day the boys were again playing together, and again Tommy lost his temper. "You certainly are—" he began wrathfully, but memory lent caution to his tongue, and he concluded forcefully, "Just the same kind of a fellow you were yesterday!"
